

Environmental Policy

Misto Oilfield Services is committed to ensure that practical and effective measures are utilized to protect health and safety of its employees, oil companies, and the public. We will comply with all relevant health, safety, and environmental legislation.

Management is responsible for, and is actively involved in, the implementation of the company's health, safety and environmental protection activities and provides the necessary equipment, training and procedures to comply with the petroleum industry's "GUIDING PRINCIPLES"

All employees are expected to actively participate in, and assist with the health and safety of individuals and protection of the environment. We encourage all employees' initiatives in the ongoing development of the company's safety and loss control activities.

A joint and continuous effort by management and the employees will ensure a safe and healthy working environment.
